Communist forces press new campaign

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces pressed their new winter-spring campaign into a third day today with nearly 100 more attacks reported across South Vietnam. Most were small-scale shellings.

The South Vietnamese command reported 97 enemy attacks during the 24-hour period ending at dawn, two-thirds of them by rockets and mortars. During the two previous 24-hour periods there were 116 and 81 attacks. Prior to this upsurge, the command had been reporting 40 to 50 attacks each 24 hours.

Many of the attacks were in the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, against villages and district towns. At least five roads were reported cut.

The stepup in Communist attacks is believed to be a show of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong strength seeking to generate congressional pressure on President Nixon to end his support of President Nguyen Van Thieu.

The Saigon command reported fighting in the northern quarter of South Vietnam below the demilitarized zone, in the central highlands and in the Mekong Delta. It claimed government forces killed 96 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong in four clashes it termed significant. Government losses were four men killed and 23 wounded, the command said.

The U.S. Command reported one American casualty, a helicopter crewman slightly wounded by ground fire south of Da Nang. The OH6 observation helicopter was slightly damaged.

North Vietnam accused the United States of conducting aerial reconnaissance of "several localities in preparation for new acts of military adventure." The editorial in the army newspaper Nhan Dan indicated it was referring to flights above the 20th parallel, where Nixon halted the bombing last Saturday.

The U.S. Command refused to comment. But other U.S. sources report that aerial reconnaissance is continuing above the 20th parallel to assess damages from the Hanoi-Haiphong blitz last month, to check on repairs, to monitor the flow of war materials, and to keep target lists up to date in case a resumption of the bombing there is ordered.

U.S. air raids continued below the 20th parallel in North Vietnam's southern panhandle, and the U.S. Command today reported the heaviest B52 raids in that sector in three weeks.

The eight-jet Stratofortresses flew 45 strikes between 8 a.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. today, dropping some 1,300 tons of bombs.

'Back 40' Action CBS Lets Go of Yankees . . Hallelujah !

The holiday rains fouled up my every-other-day feeding schedule for the big birds on "The Back 40," the miniature game preserve behind my house, and I was a day late getting out there with the corn supply. But I learned something on that trip.

Ordinarily the nine Canada Geese eat first, belligerently guarding the door to the walk-in feeding cage against the two white domestic Emden geese and their wildlife associate, the widowed White-Fronted Goose (a Brant), until the Honkers had their fill.

But this time the Canadas were splashing around on the far side of "The Back 40," and the "second-table" trio, being close by, promptly moved into the cage and started eating.

But not for long. A Canada goose can hear kernel corn rattling into a metal feed trough from a block away. Here came the nine-man army on the run—and I took a hard look at the occupied cage expecting the Honkers to move in and attack.

But Honkers must have a code of ethics like dogs—they give a warning bark before they bite (usually, that is).

What happened was a surprise. The old papa gander of the Canadas avoided the open door and approached the screened side of the cage where he could command the corn-eaters' attention. He threw his neck into a knot (a Honker's signal that he's on the war-path), and leveled a fixed stare at the three varmints at the feed trough.

It was the old evil-eye sign. The corn-eaters got the message, retired in orderly formation—and the Canadas moved in.

It was righteous, and beautifully done. But this brazen editor was on the disappointed side.

He was looking for a fight—but found out that the smart Canada Goose has a way of winning at a peace parley without a fight.

A bulletin on The Star's sports page Wednesday announced that the Columbia Broadcasting System had sold the New York Yankees. Thursday's edition described the transaction in detail.

The sale was to a 12-man syndicate for $10 million, CBS taking $3.2 million less than it paid for the ball club in 1964.

CBS claimed it broke even on its eight years' operations, but the AP dispatch showed that CBS-ownership didn't help the club's playing record and did even more damage to Yankee fans.

The Yankees had just won their 29th pennant when CBS bought them, but in the following eight years the club never finished higher than third place—and New York's 1972 attendance fell to 966,328, the first time it had dropped below a million since World War II.

There was nation-wide resentment when the network bought the Yankees, many like your editor feeling there was a conflict of interest when a TV-radio outfit owned one team while supposedly reporting impartially on all the other baseball clubs.

Baseball should be left to baseball men.

The nation will acclaim the windup of a venture that was ill-advised in the first place.

Signal of impending battle sent by Senate Democrats to President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic leaders have signaled President Nixon that an all-out drive to cut off Vietnam war funds will begin unless the Paris peace talks produce a settlement by Jan. 20.

This became clear as Senate Democrats, matching the step taken two days earlier by their House colleagues, voted 36 to 12 Thursday in favor of a strongly worded proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy to cut off war funds immediately.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, promptly reiterated his determination to move quickly if Nixon's Jan. 20 inauguration passes without an agreement.

"The time for debate—and delay—is past," Fulbright said. "I believe that Congress can and should act decisively immediately after the inauguration."

Two bills seeking to cut off war funds within 60 days, one sponsored by a group of 20 senators headed by Republican Edward W. Brooke and Democrat Alan Cranston and the other pushed by Democrat George McGovern and Republican Mark O. Hatfield, were introduced in the Senate, which twice last year voted to cut off funds in four months provided American prisoners were freed.

The new antiwar steps came despite statements from the White House, and its Senate allies, that the congressional moves might endanger the talks resuming in Paris Monday between presidential aide Henry Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho.

The war question could be raised at the White House today when congressional leaders from both parties meet for breakfast with Nixon.

The announced subject was economic policy, particularly the wage-price controls which are scheduled to expire April 30.

Either the Brooke-Cranston or the McGovern-Hatfield proposal could be attached as an amendment when the year's first appropriation bill, extending funds for foreign aid to the end of June, is considered in Congress next month.

The first effort to focus a congressional hearing on the war collapsed in discord Thursday when the administration failed to provide a witness for a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee session on effects on U.S.-European relations of the recent American bombing of North Vietnamese cities.

Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird agreed, however, to testify next Monday before the House Armed Services Committee, which in the past has heavily backed the administration's handling of the war.

The Democratic caucus also approved assignment of members to Senate committees. It largely went along with the recommendations of its steering committee but decided to expand the Foreign Relations Committee to make room for both McGovern and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota.

Sen. McClellan introduces flood of bills Thursday

WASHINTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., introduced on Thursday 10 bills that ranged in purpose from a complete revision of the nation's criminal laws to measures that would protect Arkansas' waters and authorize construction of a highway bridge over Lake Norfork.

His package included:

—A bill to revise the federal criminal code, the first such comprehensive reform that has been undertaken since 1790.

—A bill to provide Congressional consent for states to enter into interstate environmental compacts, and thus jointly attack their mutual problems of pollution.

—A bill to establish a national policy for revitalizing rural areas and promoting economic growth in other economically distressed areas.

—A bill to grant federal consent to the Arkansas River Basin Compact, signed ealier by Arkansas and Oklahoma.

—A bill to provide civil remedies to victims of racketeering, violence and theft.

—A bill to provide compensation to public safety officers victimized by crime and to their survivors.

—A bill to provide a special bonus for members of the armed forces held as prisoners of war during the Vietnam era.

—A bill authorizing the preservaton of a 70,000-acre fish and wildlife habitat in the Cache River Basin.

—A bill authorizing a feasibility study of a north-south interstate highway through Arkansas.

McClellan said some of the bills passed the Senate in the last Congress but were not finally acted upon because of the crush of legislative activity during the closing days of the session.

The Cache and Norfork projects were included in the Omnibus Rivers and Harbors Bill that Congress approved but which the President vetoed.

However, McClellan said he was able to secure funds for those projects as part of the 1973 Supplemental Appropriations Act that the President did sign

Eminent domain opinion

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office said today that land acquired by the town of Alpena by eminent domain could be sold to private interests for private enterprise.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Kirby Smith III said that, based on a state Supreme Court ruling, Alpena could dispose of the property "in any way it sees fit" if the town determines that the land is not needed for public use.

The opinion went to Bill F. Doshier, a Harrison lawyer, who said Alpena had used eminent domian proceedings to acquire the land in March 1962.

Several portions of the tract, which measures 200 feet wide and about a half mile long, have been used for municipal purposes — some of it for streets and other portions for a water treatment plant, a ball park and a parking lot.

Doshier said the town council had voted to sell three 150 foot square tracts for private enterprise.

In another opinion, Atty. Gen. Rodney Parham said State Securities Commissioner John S. Selig had authority to require securities salesmen to submit their fingerprints when they apply for registration as an agent in Arkansas.

Battle lines forming

Nixon to push death penalty in some cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration says it will call for a mandatory death penalty for "cold-blooded, premeditated" crimes, but a Democratic Senator is proposing a bill that would leave imposition of the death sentence up to the jury.

The two opposing viewpoints could presage a major congressional battle over use of capital punishment. And opponents of the death penalty already have begun to form battle lines.

Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst announced Thursday that the administration will seek legislation requiring the death penalty for such crimes as kidnaping, assassination, bombing a public building, killing a prison guard and air hijacking.

Meanwhile, Sen. John L. McClellan D-Ark., introduced a bill that would reinstitute the death penalty, but only if a defendant, in the course of a serious crime, intentionally takes another person's life. The jury would decide guilt and punishment separately.

Kleindienst suggested at a news conference that a mandatory death penalty, where the jury in effect decides guilt and imposes punishment at the same time, would be acceptable to the Supreme Court. The court ruled 5 to 4 last summer that because the death penalty has been applied unevenly in state and federal courts, it violates the constitutional ban against cruel and unusual punishment.

Included on the Senate subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures, which would handle such a bill, are two ardent Democratic opponents of capital punishment, Sens. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Philip A. Hart of Michigan.

More opposition apparently would come from Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a member of the parent Judiciary Committee, Bayh said one of the problems with the death penalty "is that it is possible for our system of justice to make a mistake." A Bayh aide said the senator would like to see a life sentence mean a life sentence and a tougher policy toward paroles."

However, Sen. James O. Eastland of Mississippi, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, said he would favor the administration's proposal.

The ranking Republican on the House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, said also the death penalty should be imposed for some crimes.

"The world has not reached a point yet where other countries would do away with the death penalty for such offenses and I doubt it would be good policy for us to do it," Hutchinson said.

Sources should be protected

WASHINGTON (AP) — News Reporters' sources should be protected 99.9 per cent of the time, says Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst.

"But none of our rights are absolute," he said.

229 died in VN in 1972

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon lists 299 Americans killed in action in the Vietnam war last year, fewer than fell in a single week back in 1968 when U.S. troops were in the thick of the ground war.

The 1972 toll was the lowest in eight years, since before the United States began bombing North Vietnam in 1965 and then sent its own infantry and other forces into the fighting on a major scale.

A Pentagon report shows 45,928 Americans killed in Southeast Asia action between Jan. 1, 1961, and Dec. 30, 1972.

The U.S. casualties started out on a very small scale in 1961 and 1962 and, as might be expected, vaulted as U.S. involvement in South Vietnam progressed from advising Saigon's forces to assuming the main burden of the ground fighting.

U.S. killed-in-action totaled 42 in 1961 and 1962 together, rising to 78 in 1963, 147 in 1964, to 1,369 in 1965, 5,008 in 1966, to 9,378 in 1967 and apeak of 14,5492 in 1968, the year of the great Tet offensive.

In many weeks during 1968 U.S. battle deaths totaled in the 300-400 and even 500-plus range. The worst week saw 562 American battle deaths during the seven days ended May 11, 1968.

The killed-in-action totals started downward in 1969, the year President Nixon began the gradual withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam. The U.S. combat death count in 1969 was 9,414. It was more than halved in 1970, to 4,221, and dropped sharply again in 1971 to 1,389.

While the U.S. battle toll came to 299 in 1972, the South Vietnamese recorded 37,566 combat deaths, and allied forces, principally South Koreans, suffered 442.

The Pentagon summary showed that 131,675 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were slain in South Vietnam in 1972. However, statistics on enemy casualties are gathered principally from South Vietnamese sources and are regarded with some reservation by many U.S. officers.

According to the Pentagon summary, South Vietnamese regular forces lost 180,676 men over the past 12 years. Allied countries other than the United States which sent troops to help South Vietnam lost 5,221 men.

North Vietnam and the Viet Cong were said to have suffered 921,350 combat deaths in South Vietnam.

Revenue sharing: Some cities are making money

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Many cities and counties in Arkansas are earning pocket change with their federal revenue sharing checks, while others have opted for checking accounts which bear no interest.

Most of the cities and counties that are earning interest from their checks are undecided how to spend the funds.

Some, such as Pope County, have already spent most of the funds.

The revenue sharing checks, mailed by the government in December, ranged from the $200 minimum for some cities to $1,376,383 for Little Rock.

E. Jack Murphy, Little Rock's finance director, said the city's entire check was used to purchase government securities. He said that if the $1,376,383 remained in the securities for 12 months, the city would earn about $68,000 in interest, but he added that the city would begin spending the funds within a couple of months.

"At the time we received the money, the city board of directors had not worked up the capital improvements budget to determine exactly which improvements should be given priority," Murphy said.

He pointed out that expenditures of interest earned from the revenue-sharing checks is governed by the same guidelines that control the expenditure of the checks themselves.

Most cities and counties will use the funds for one-time expenses—street improvements purchase of police cars or fire equipment or road-building equipment, improvements for buildings, etc.

Frank Bizzell, executive director of the Association of Arkansas Counties, says the projects should be the type that have "widespread public support—high visible projects so that we can point to something."

"We recommended this money be spent on capital expenditures in an area of nonrecurring costs because we don't know what the future will hold," Bizzell said.

In at least one instance, the revenue sharing check was first deposited in a checking account and then moved to an interest-bearing account.

Hugh Sherry, Washington County treasurer, deposited the county's check of $375,587 in a checking account Dec. 14. Sherry's action was criticized by the Northwest Arkansas Times and he responded by saying he would put the funds in an interest-bearing account if County Judge Vol Lester would issue an order directing him to do so. Sherry said he felt he lacked the authority to deposit county money to draw interest.

The Washington County Depository Board, compsed of Lester, Sherry and County Collector Sarah Walker, agreed Dec. 22 to put $300,000 in a Springdale bank to draw 5.75 per cent interest for 90 days — earning the county $4,312. The remaining $75,000 was placed in a checking account and a portion has been spent.

Other cities and counties making money with their money include: Fayetteville, West Memphis, Crittenden County, Magnolia, Columbia County, Benton County, Rogers, Phillips County, Helena, West Helena, Miller County and Texarkana.

Some that have chosen checking accounts include: North Little Rock, Sebastian County, Fort Smith, Russellville, Pope County, Siloam Springs, El Dorado, and Union County.

Paul Nahlen, North Little Rock finance director, said the city had spent more than $68,000 of its $324,074 for an asphalt spreader and other street department equipment.

"We're going to use the money," he said. "That's what it's for."

Pope County's check for $147,141 was placed in a checking account immediately and only $2,000 remains. Expenditures include $50,000 for a library fund; $50,000 toward the cost of a health building; $30,000 to the road department; $12,000 for ambulance service, and 3,000 for a restoration project.

Siloam Springs placed its $33,848 check in a checking account and has already spent $12,000 for a backhoe. The city plans to spend more soon, possibly on a fire department building.

El Dorado is spending much of its check for renovation of the city jail — a project the city's voters refused to finance when a half mill tax increase was rejected last March. The city has also appropriated $15,000 to retain two fulltime security guards at the city's airport.

Fort Smith and Russellville are among the cities that have their funds in checking accounts but have not decided how to spend the money.

Columbia County invested its $116,146 in a 30-day 5-per cent interest account, but the county quorum court has allocated 50 per cent of the money for the construction of roads and the other 50 per cent for mainteanance and operations of the county government.

Miller County also has its money in a 30-day interest-bearing account, but plans to use most of the money to construct an addition to the county courthouse.

Little Rock, with the most to invest, will earn the largest amount of interest. However, Fayetteville and Crittenden County will earn more than $2,000 each while West Memphis will rake in about $900 in interest.

Memorial service for Truman set for today

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ranking government and foreign dignitaries, who weren't invited to the simple, private funeral last week for Harry S. Truman, gather at Washington Cathedral today to memorialize the 33rd president of the United States.

The 88-year-old Truman died Dec. 26 and was buried in the grassy courtyard of the library in Independence, Mo., that houses the documents and mementos of his life.

The former president had requested that only family and close friends attend the funeral service at the library.

Plans were made to hold a simultaneous memorial service in the nation's capital for the many government officials and representatives of foreign countries who wished to pay their last respects. But when Truman died during the holiday season after a long illness it was decided to postpone the service here until various officials returned to Washington after spending the holiday with their families.

Officiating at the interfaith service are the Rev. John E. Howell, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Washington, which Truman attended as President; the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., dean of the Washington Cathedral; and the Right Rev. William F. Creighton, Protestant Episcopal bishop of Washington.

Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was expected to represent President Nixon, who flew to Independence to pay his respects before the funeral. Cathederal spokesmen said the nine justices of the Supreme Court, leaders of the House and Senate and numerous foreign dignitaries also would attend.

About 200 of the 2,000 seats in the tall, gothic cathedral were to be open to the public, and a lawn on the cathedral grounds was roped off to accommodate any overflow crowd.

Prime Minister John Lynch of Ireland, President Zalman Shazar of Israel, Premier Kim Chong Pil of South Korea and Vice President Yen Chia-kan of Taiwan were among the ranking foreign officials scheduled to represent their governments at the service.

Truman's only child, Margaret Truman Daniel, and her husband, Clifton Daniel of The New York Times, were to represent the family. Mrs. Truman, the former president's beloved Bess, is 87, in frail health and was not expected to travel to Washington for the ceremony.

Mamie Eisenhower, widow of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, planned to accompany the Daniels. Eisenhower's funeral—like those of several other national figures—was conducted in the cross-shaped limestone church on Mount St. Alban in northwest Washington.

Ceiling on poultry will be lifted, JPH claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said Thursday that it was imminent that the ceiling on processed poultry and turkey would be lifted.

He said he hoped the development would be in time "to prevent the collapse of key grower and processor segments of the poultry industry."

Hammerschmidt said some growers had been forced to sell at a loss because of artifically established ceilings on the prices of poultry and increasing costs for feed.

The lifting of the ceiling, he said, will place those products "so extremely important to Arkansas' economy in the same relationship as other raw agricultural products to the Economic Stabilization Act."

"That is, it will exempt them from ceiling price provisions," the congressman said.

He called the action the fulfillment of a total effort of the poultry industry to achieve "an open market" for the industry, which previously had been "threatened by skyrocketing prices in high-protein meal, usually a fish meal and crushed soybean mixture."

"The cost of this has multiplied several times over the last few months," Hammerschmidt said.

He said he had been in touch during the day with the Agriculture Department, the Price Commission and the Office of Management and Budget.

An aide to the congressman said the feed price had jumped from about $40 a ton to $200 a ton.

He also said that ceiling prices in some areas were lower than the cost of producing the chicken, forcing growers and processors to sell at a loss.

Arkansas is the nation's leader in broiler production. The Crop Reporting Services said Thursday that in the week ended Dec. 30, Arkansas producers started 8,772,000 chickens for broiler production, down 8 per cent from the previous week.

Rose Hill Cemetery board met

The Rose Hill Cemetery Board met last month and elected new officers: president, Hamilton Hanegan; Secretary, Mary Sue Evans.

The board meets four times a year.

Miss Annie Jean Walker is acting treasurer with an office at the City Hall.

The only way the board can make improvements is by donations made by those who have loved ones buried in Rose Hill Cemetery, a spokesman said.

Other persons on the board in addition to Hanegan and Mrs. Evans are: Charles W. Wilson, Syd McMath, Mrs. C.D. Gibson, Mrs. A.D. Brannan, Mrs. T.S. McDavitt, Mrs. Albert Graves, G.G. Medders and Gerald Keith, city manager, an ex-officio member.

Weeks explains photographs

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Pete's Place at 610 West 9th St. in Little Rock, a private club mentioned in a prosecuting attorney's report on "possible criminal activity" allegedly involving members of the Little Rock Police Department, was closed Thursday on a order signed by Circuit Court Judge Richard B. Adkisson.

Pros. Atty. Lee A. Munson of Little Rock, who took office this week, sought the order to close the place as a public nuisance based on the report of former Pros. Atty. Jim Guy Tucker Jr.

Munson said a hearing would be held in about 30 days in an attempt to obtain a permanent closing order.

Munson said the request for the closing order came on the basis of information in the report and a request from Little Rock Police Chief Gale F. Weeks after an informant had observed an illegal dice game in the club on several different nights and that a reporter for the Arkansas Gazette had participated in the game.

The repoter said he was present as part of an investigation by the prosecuting attorney's office.

Meanwhile, Weeks denied that three photographs taken in December outside the Police Department's training building were of policemen hauling illegal liquor and narcotics.

Weeks said the photographs actually showed off-duty policemen loading their band instruments into a panel truck after practicing for the department's annual Christmas party.

The chief's denial was the latest in the continuing controversy that began when police observed a private detective agency and Sandy McMath, chief deputy prosecuting attorney, apparently following vice squad officers at night.

The pictures were taken by a photographer for the Arkansas Gazette and were not included in a lengthy report handed to Pros. Atty. Lee A. Munson when Jim Guy Tucker left office Monday.

Weeks said the photographs were shown to him by an official of the Arkansas Gazette in the presence of City Manager John T. Meriwether and City Atty. Joseph C. Kemp. The chief said the pictures were taken on the night of Dec. 13 by a photographer who was in a warehouse across LaHarpe Boulevard.

"When I was afforded an opportunity to view these pictures, I was informed that they represented the 'real meat' of Tucker's investigation," Weeks said. "When I saw the pictures I immediately recognized the officers and what they were doing."

Weeks said he was told the pictures represented police officers hauling narcotics and liquor "and was part of the alleged illegal operations of this department."

The chief said six policemen from various sections of the department performed together in a string band and the band had been invited to entertain at the department's annual Christmas party at Ricks Armory Dec. 17.

Tucker's report to Weeks about "investigation of possible criminal activity related to 610 West 9th St." contained six detailed pages that began with the disclosure that the investigation was prompted by a telephone call from an Arkansas Gazette reporter who had been observing outside Pete's Place, a private club at that address.

Tucker's report said the reporter, along with a black informant, had seen David Mack Jr., owner of the club, in the alley parking area talking with a vice squad sergeant. At this time, the report said, "Pete's Place appeared to be in full operation selling liquor."

Weeks sad the club ids a private club and members could have left their bottles behind the counter, which could be legal, although he said there was a possibility that liquor law violations had occurred there recently as he said they had in the past.

Church sets adult rally

There will be a "Giant Adult Rally" for all adults at the Sunday School hour Sunday morning at 9:30. The goal is to break the all time high attendance record for adults. There will be one large Bible class in the auditorium for this "kick-off rally." At this time, fifteen new adult classes will begin and one new adult department. Many more workers will become involved in the teaching program of the church.

Every adult member is being contacted by the teachers this week urging them to be present Sunday.

Beginning Sunday night at 5:45, the church will begin its annual January Bible Study. There will be a book of the Bible and study for each age group.

Dr. Robert Stagg, professor of Bible at Ouachita Baptist University, will teach the adults, using the book of Galatians.

The study will continue each night through Wednesday night from 7 p.m. to 8:45 p.m.

The public is invited to come and join in these Bible studies. Dr. Stagg will also be preaching at the evening hour Sunday.

Employes gain in number

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The total number of Americans at work rose 280,000 to 82.8 million last month, while the nation's unemployment rate remained unchanged at 5.2 per cent of the work force, the government said today.

The number of jobless Americans actually edged down 150,000 to 4.1 million, but this is expected in December and the Labor Department figured it as no change on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The report, rounding up employment developments over the past year, noted that the unemployment total was down 600,000 in the past 12 months.

The report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics also said that average earnings of some 50 million rank-and-file workers rose $1.12 to $139.50 per week in December and were up $8.20 or 6.2 per cent over the past year.

Workers lost 3.5 per cent of their purchasing power to rising living costs over the year, leaving them with a net gain in pay of 2.7 per cent.

The report said that the nation's total employment rose over the year by 2.4 million.

Refiners are caught in energy pinch

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Major gasoline refiners in Oklahoma are caught in the middle of an energy pinch and are curbing deliveries of gasoline at the retail level, company spokesman said Thursday.

At least two firms are involved in what was described as a growing problem in Oklahoma and other states.

A Phillips Petroleum Co. spokesman at Bartlesville said his firm is "limiting deliveries of gasoline to contracted volumes" in its entire marketing area, principally east of the Rocky Mountains.

A spokesman for Continental Oil Co. in Houston, which has a large part of refinery production coming from Ponca City, Okla., said his company "is not seeking nor will it accept any new business" in Oklahoma and surrounding areas.

Both firms said they will be able to take care of established customers and dealers.

Several other firms said they had not restricted supplies, but various independent and banded dealers said they have been told privately there will be limits on gastline imposed in the future.

Kerr-McGee Corp. of Oklahoma City said it "has been able to supply Oklahoma jobbers and dealers with sufficient gasoline to meet this demand and has not restricted gasoline deliveries."

New qualifications for lunch program

Due to the recent amendment of the school act as provided in public law 92-433, qualifications for free or reduced price lunches at public schools have been altered slightly. Applications for free or reduced price lunches at the Saratoga School are available at the school office, according to N.R. Coulter, Saratoga High School principal.

The regular charge to students who are able to pay the regular price is 35 cents per day or $1.50 per week Coulter said. However, since some families find it difficult to pay this full price, the school will provide the lunches free of charge or at a reduced price to those students determined by the supervisor to be unable to pay the full price for the lunches.

Under the new law those families who did not qualify in September for free lunches may be eligible in 1973.

It's cheaper by the dozen, but it's crowded

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have had it! I am fed up with people condemning my parents for having seven children.

The first thing they ask is, "Are you Catholic?" [We're not—we're Protestant.] Then they make some dumb crack about my parents probably being hooked on sex or something.

Well, I happen to know that my mother planned each one of us, and as long as my father can afford that many children, I don't think it's anybody's business.

My mother has never had to work outside the home one day after she was married, and that's more than a lot of mothers can say.

If my parents can afford to have a dozen children, why should they be made to feel that they are taking up more space in the world than they're entitled to?

ONE OF SEVEN

DEAR ONE: If people continue to multiply at the present rate, this world of ours is going to be in serious trouble. For some up-to-date reading material on this subject, inquire at your public library.

DEAR ABBY: Six weeks ago [a week before she married my son] my daughter in law said she would like to call me by my first name since I was more like a friend than a mother. I said, "Fine. Whatever makes you comfortable."

The first time she called me "Nellie" it hit me wrong. I realized it really wasn't fine with me. I love her like a daughter, not like a friend, and I didn't feel comfortable being called "Nellie" by my daughter in law. I would rather she call me "Mom" or "Mother Smith" or even "Mrs. Smith" as she did before.

I have an idea she and my son cooked up this idea because he feels more comfortable calling her parents by their first names rather than "Mom and Dad."

Have you any suggestions? I want to resolve this before any more time passes. NAME PROBLEM IN ILLINOIS

DEAR PROBLEM: Tell your daughter in law that you don't feel comfortable being called "Nellie," and would she mind calling you "Mother Smith," "Mother Nellie," or something with which you both feel comfortable.

DEAR ABBY: My almost-16-year-old daughter and her 18-year-old boy friend have the habit of lying down side by side on our very narrow couch while watching television. They don't get embarrassed when her daddy or I walk in and find them this way.

In some respects I may be old fashioned, but I think some things can go a little too far, and I don't like to see my daughter and her boy friend in that position. If they are that close in our home, I wonder how close they get when they are out on a date.

I don't like to be a square mother, Abby, but don't you think I should ask them to please sit up when they're watching TV? WANTS TO DO RIGHT

DEAR WANTS: The position you describe is too close for comfort. Tell your daughter that she should keep both feet on the floor. And that goes for her boy friend, too.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "TORN DAUGHTER IN HIGHLAND PARK": I can understand why your mother is bitter about your father, from whom she is separated, but she had no right to forbid you to invite him to your home. Tell your mother you will let her know ahead of time when your father will be there so she won't run into him.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90069 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Who Should and Should Not Work

(Last of Two Parts.)

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Dorothy Becker, corporate vice-president of Staff Builders, a large temporary employment service that has nationwide offices, maintains that there are two sides to the liberation-career syndrome so in evidence right now. And she believes that it may be right for some women but not for all. It is her contention that the liberation movement has done a great wrong to some women.

"Instead of giving women freedom of choice, it has done exactly the opposite and has made women who are happy as homemakers feel guilty because they like what they are doing.

"But I think the fault lies more in the manner in which the movement has been presented than in the feminists themselves," she said.

Mrs. Becker feels that women should be permitted to choose whether to stay at home or rise to a top job in business. But the key words are "permitted to choose," and without stigma.

A mother and housewife herself for 20 years before going back to work in 1961, she says that in her present job she has talked with women who should not, in her opinion, be returning to the career market at all but feel under pressure to do so.

Mrs. Becker gave her views on women she believes should not go back to work.

First are those who go to work because of women's lib pressure and those who want to take a job because all their friends are working and have made them feel out of the mainstream.

Another type is the woman who would become a martyr if she got a job, telling the kids not to bother her with their homework and cutting her husband down to size by reminding him of her contribution to the household finances. Even if her husband has no job, Mrs. Becker says, this kind of woman shouldn't work.

"If her working will destroy her husband and family," she said, "they would be better off on welfare."

The other type of woman who shouldn't work, she believes, is the one who is self-indulgent but in being so, still preserves her family. She is happy gabbing on the phone with friends and spending the afternoons watching soap operas.

"There are women who enjoy this kind of life and they shouldn't be told that they're wrong if they do. These women have as much right to do as they wish as other women who pursue a career."

Mrs. Becker disagrees with the National Organization of Women's resolution which urges women not to do volunteer work.

"Some women prefer volunteer work to a business career," she said. "If the work is meaningful, volunteer work can provide any person with a great deal of satisfaction. And who can say what is meaningful? It varies from individual to individual."

For women who are ambitious where a business career is concerned or for other reasons want to work, returning to the labor force via a temporary employment service can be a great help—especially if the woman hasn't been employed outside the home for a long period.

"First," said Mrs. Becker, "it gives her an opportunity to find out what working and being a housewife and mother is all about and if it's what she really wants.

"It can also lead to something permanent for her—possibly in an area she never dreamed of. And if her husband is unemployed it can lead him to some job prospects he might not otherwise find."

Mrs. Becker herself reentered the job market as a part-time employe. A psychology major with five years of prematrimonial personnel experience, she started with Staff Builders in New York in the testing department and later rose to corporate vice-president of the firm.

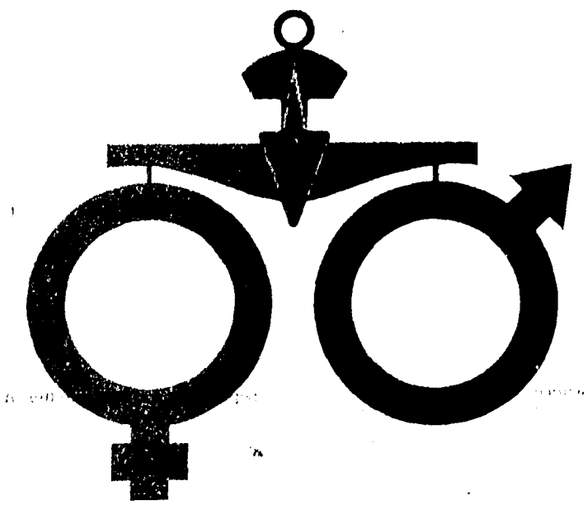

Her appointment made news at the time for she was the first woman to become a feminine V.P. in her field.

"There's still discrimination toward women," she said, "but I believe that a woman can do almost anything she wants to if she's willing to give as much of herself to a job as a man will.

"She shouldn't expect any special consideration because of her sex. If a job requires that she travel and she doesn't want to travel or can't, then she shouldn't think she lost the job because she is a woman.

The hat makes a comeback

By ANN HENCKEN
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Hat designers say the hat is bound to be an important accent as fashions reflect a more serene and conservative style for spring.

"The designers wanted a definite statement in hats because the clothes were so understated. You couldn't tell if they were catalogue or couture, without the proper accessories," said Frank Olive, hat designer who worked with designers like Coty-award winning John Anthony to coordinate his hats.

It's the return of the Great Gatsby era for the coming season, said Olive, echoing an already-popular theme for spring.

"Our life style is similar to the Gatsby era — in the classic wide-brimmed hats, the turban, the small-fitting cloches. There are baggier pants, both chunky and sensitive heels, crepe de chines, and the tennis visor," said Olive, who showed his hats at the Millinery Institute of America's presentation on Thursday.

Last year's funky colors, like dark raisin and puce, have turned soft and light-spirited. A pale lime green hat with roll brim was offered by Albrizio. Mr. Martin showed a "strawberries in the snow" version of the floppy gingham sport look.

The felt hat is bigger this year, as it is a good year-round bet. Try a small "peach melba" felt hat with a conservative suit, which is a strong idea for spring. Or wear it with a matching peach dress.

Olive suggested a large-brimmed hat with pallazzo pants or with a pleated skirt and cardigan. Jack McConnell offered a dramatic double-brimmed black and white straw hat in this style.

The turban may be the most versatile of all, as it's good for evening, the slinky sweater look or suits, said Olive, whose hats are priced from $9 to $40.

"It's the most imaginative but the most disciplined look," he said, adding that the turban looks either great or disastrous, depending on how carefully it is placed on the head.

He showed a white organza turban, set with a bunch of gardenias in back.

When flowers are used, it is in a sparing way. Roses and lilacs cascade from one side of a yellow and white straw, by Mr. John Jr.

Two methods

Hope Bobcat Jimmy Smith, at left, jumps back to back with a Magnolia Panther in last night's tough battle on the hard court. Smith led the Bobcat scoring with 11 points. Gary Rhodes has his own way of doing things. At right, Rhodes demonstrates his method of putting points on the scoreboard for the Bobcats. More Bobcat basketball action is slated for tonight when the Bobcats and Bobkittens travel to Camden. (See article below.)

Magnolia edges Hope

By RICKY FAWCETT
Star SportsWriter

The Hope Bobcats suffered a heartbreaking loss, 48-47, at the hands of Magnolia last night in Jones Field House.

Magnolia jumped to an early 4-0 lead. For the rest of the half both teams swapped baskets with the Bobcats trailing 27-22 at the horn.

Midway through the third quarter free throws by James Stewart and Mike Hopson gave Hope a 34-33 advantage. From there the teams again exchanged baskets with the Bobcats on top 38-37 at the period's end.

The Panthers opened the final period with five consecutive points. However Hope would not say die. Stubbornly the Bobcats whittled that lead to zero and with 47 seconds remaining, Bud Martin hit a jumper, making the score 47-46, Bobcats.

Twenty four seconds later Willie Hildreath sank the two game winning free throws.

However with two seconds to play, Shelton Cole missed a free throw, making Magnolia the victors, 48-47.

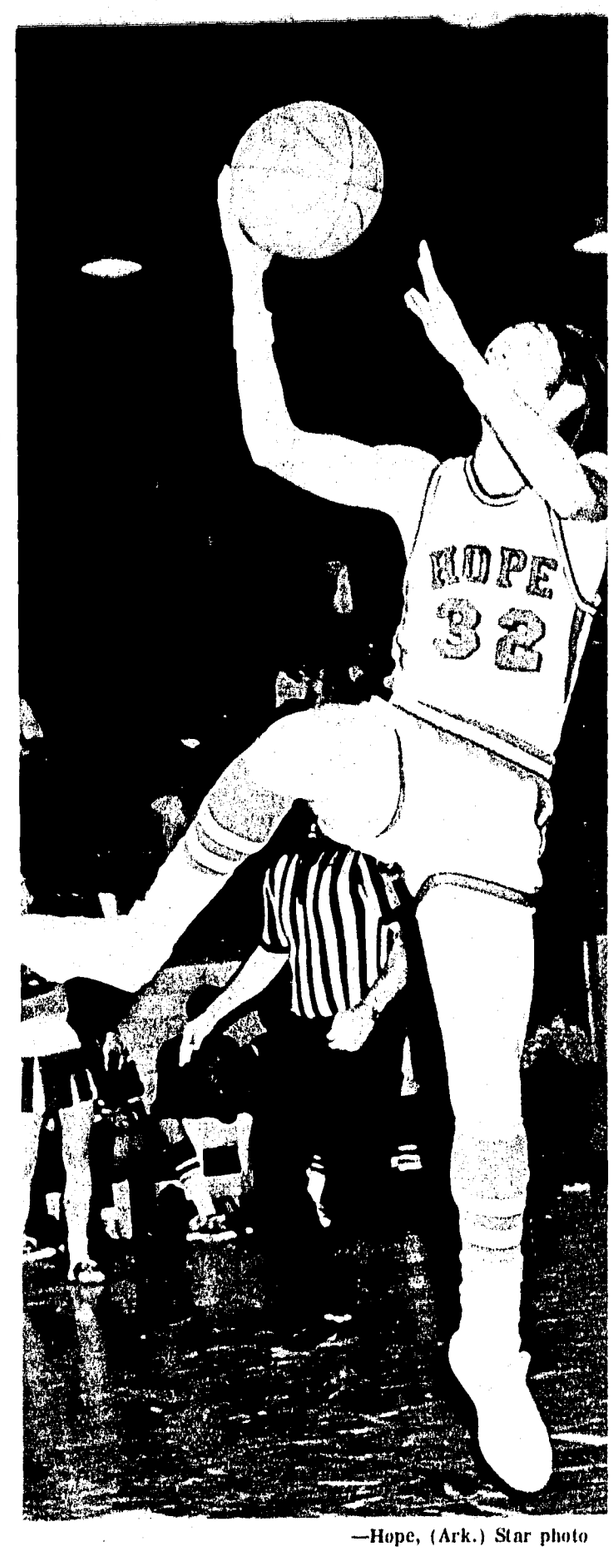

Earlier, in the first game of the evening the Bobkittens overpowered the Magnolia Cubs, 36-21.

Hope's Jimmy Williams won the game's scoring honors with 12 points.

The middle game of the trio saw the Magnolia B Team shut down the B Bruins, 60-24.

Hope did not score until 5:40 remained in the first half. However, Magnolia had already put 17 on the board. The half ended with the scoreboard reading 29-7, Magnolia.

Throughout the second half, the Bruins were unable to generate much offense while the B Panthers had small problems. The final score was 60-24.

Squires down Nets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Billy Paultz had the flu and couldn't make the trip to Virginia with the New York Nets.

As a result, his team never looked sicker.

With their top rebounder out of the game, the Nets were badly beaten on the boards—and just beaten badly, 128-97, by the Virginia Squires in their American Basketball Association game Thursday night.

Led by Julius Erving, the Squires outrebounded the Nets by a 54-41 margin. Ervine scored 26 points and hauled down 10 rebounds to make it a Virginia runaway.

In the night's other ABA games, the Indiana Pacers ripped the San Diego Conquistadors 125-115 and the Denver Rockets walloped the Dallas Chaparrals 125-111.

In the National Basketball Association, the Chicago Bulls trimmed the Houston Rockets 111-97 and the Golden State Warriors stopped the Portland Trailblazers 108-103.

The Virginia-New York contest was no-contest from the second period on. The Squires outscored the Nets by 10 points in the second stanza and 13 in the third to take a 30-point lead going into the final period.

The Nets, who obviously missed Paultz' average of 12 rebounds a game, were led by George Carter's 22 points.

Donnie Freeman and Mel Daniels fired a fourth-quarter rally that sent Indiana over San Diego. The game was tied for the 19th and last time, at 105, when Daniels fired in a short jumper.

Daniels then hit two more quick baskets, Darnell Hillman added a free throw and Freeman scored the next seven points to break the game wide open.

Ralph Simpson's 33 points powered Denver over Dallas. The victory was a runaway, as the Chaps never came closer than eight points.

Chet Walker, Bob Love and Garfield Heard combined for 72 points to lead Chicago over Houston. After building a 55-42 halftime lead behind their big three, the Bulls outscored the Rockets 14-5 in the first six minutes of the third period to put the game away.

Golden State's victory was fashioned behind Rick Barry's 30-point output. Barry, continuing a personal hot streak, hit 14 of 22 field goal attempts.

UCLA moves toward all-time basketball record

By DAN BERGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA's top-rated basketball team has been inexorably moving toward the all-time collegiate record for consecutive victories, yet the Bruins head coach has ignored the obvious.

But no longer.

UCLA has won 53 basketball games in a row. Tonight the Bruins tackle rugged Oregon in hopes of winning No. 54. Then Saturday night Oregon State is on schedule to become No. 55.

"To be perfectly honest with you, I really haven't thought about the streak until recently," Wooden said Thursday from his home in nearby Santa Monica.

"I always concentrate on our (Pacific-8) conference season because unless we win the title, we can't go on and play in the regional finals. So I had chosen to ignore the record because early in the season I do things that aren't predicated entirely on winning, just on preparing the team for the conference.

"But maybe it's about time I started mentioning it to my players. They read about the record all the time in the newspapers and hear about it on radio and television.

"If I mentioned the record to them, maybe it would relieve the pressure on some of the kids—you know, hearing the coach talk about it doesn't make it sound so impossible."

Wooden admits that beating his team is very difficult this year. And he gave the formula for a possible victory over the Bruins:

"Any team with good size and good quickness will give us a good game. Last weekend, Drake and Illinois both had equal size and equal quickness to us and they gave us good games. There are so many good players in this country—the nation abounds with them—that many teams have enough talent to be tough."

Wooden said he would never trade talent for experience and wouldn't trade height for quickness. "You have to have balance. This team has balance, I think."

The Bruins' 6-foot-11 Bill Walton was defensed well last week and Wooden says Walton will probably see two rugged teams over this weekend.

Wooden says if his team does win 60 games in a row, "it will probably be interesting to look back on it and reflect about the three teams that made up the streak." It started, he notes, with the Curtis Row-Sidney Wicks-Henry Bibby teams in 1970-71.

"None of those players are on this team," he notes. "But let's not talk too much about it," he adds. "If it comes to pass...."

Memphis knocks Vanderbilt out of unbeaten ranks

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Memphis State keeps chalking up "super" and "great" victories in college basketball—and on the road, too.

"This was a super win" said Coach Gene Bartow in Nashville Saturday night after the Tigers had knocked Vanderbilt out of the unbeaten ranks.

"It was a great one to win" Bartow said in Des Moines Thursday night after the Tigers had beaten Drake 97-92 in two overtimes for their sixth straight triumph.

Saved from defeat by Bill Laurie's basket with one second left in the first overtime that tied the score at 84-84, Memphis State won on eight straight points by sub Billy Buford in the second OT.

"We were very fortunate, we just seem to keep hanging in there," said Bartow in the wake of the Tigers' successful opening in the tough Missouri Valley Conference after surviving a late Drake rally that wiped out a 14-point deficit and tied the regulation game at 71-71.

Louisville defeated North Texas 76-69 sparked by 20 points from soph Junior Bridgeman and Tulsa tripped Bradley 82-73 behind Willy Biles' 25 points in two other MVC openers.

North Carolina, No. 9 in the Associated Press rankings, crushed Furman 100-67 behind an all-around attack that made Joe Williams, Furman coach, term the Tar Heels "one of the best teams in the country."

Southwestern Louisiana, the only other team in the AP Top Ten to see action, whipped Pan American 86-75.

Gents surprise Razorbacks

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Seven-foot freshman Robert Parish fired in 33 points and grabbed 21 rebounds to lead the Centenary Gents to an 80-72 nonconference basketball victory over the Arkansas Razorbacks here Thursday night.

The victory was the first for Centenary over Arkansas since 1967, and the Gents had lost 12 of 13 games against the Razorbacks.

Parish, who has scored 132 points in his last three games, dominated the offensive backboard and allowed the Gents to post their seventh victory in eight games this season. Arkansas' record fell to 6-4.

Martin Terry, Arkansas' senior guard, who carried a 29-point average into the game, was held to 16 points. Junior Dean Tolson led the Razorbacks with 18 points.

The Razorbacks tied the score at 56-all with 11:19 to play, but John Hickerson sank a layup a few seconds later to give the Gents a lead they never relinquished.

After a slow start, Centenary warmed up midway through the first half and took the lead for good in the first half with 14:01 to play when Parish hit a short jumper. The Gents led at halftime 46-38.

Arkansas outscored Centenary 16-4 to take a brief lead in the early minutes of the second half.

Second high scorer for Centenary was sophomore Leon Johnson, who hit 20 points, all from the field.

Bull's protest denied, 'silent count' rules

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls' protest over their game against Los Angeles Dec. 12 in Chicago Stadium has been denied by Walter Kennedy, National Basketball Association commissioner.

The action didn't surprise the Bulls.

The Lakers won 106-105 when a desperation shot by Chicago's Chet Walker was disallowed on the claim by officials that time had run out.

Kennedy's decision agreed that time remained on the clock, but he said officials, using the "silent count" decided time had expired. Such a method, he said, can be used when noise would drown out the official timer's game-ending signal.

The "silent count" began with 0:02 on the clock after a free throw by Walker was executed. Walker picked up a deflected rebound and made his controversial shot, but officials ruled that time had run out and the Lakers survived by one point.

"I knew we never would win the protest," said Walker Thursday night. "Maybe, if we were playing such low-standing teams as Kansas City or Portland it would be different, but against Los Angeles it's another story. It's strictly politics and the best teams and the champions get favored treatment."

Bulls' Coach Dick Motta said, "I really thought we were going to win the decision ... The league waited a long time before acting and made several requests for a film supplied by CBS of the controversial basket. I'm not, however, surprised at the decision because I've been getting surprised in the NBA every night."

Julius Boros leads first round in Campbell Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Julius Boros held his score card—the one showing him sharing the lead in the first round of the $135,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open—at arms length as he tried to focus on it.

"I don't have my glasses, you know," the paunchy, 52-year-old Boros apologized.

"That's pretty great for me," Boros said Thursday of his four-under-par 67 on the 7,028-yard Riviera Country Club course. "You know, considering I've been having trouble with a bad back, and I've got a touch of bursitis and I haven't played much lately and the weather was pretty cold ..."

Jack Nicklaus wasn't at all impressed by Boros' talk of his ailments.

"Jeez, Julie, what course did YOU play?" Jack asked.

Boros, called "Old Man River" or just "Old Folks" by his younger companions on the pro tour, was tied for the top spot with Johnny Miller, 25,and former PGA title-holder Dave Stockton.

Just one stroke off the pace in this event, which kicks off a 12-month schedule on the pro tour, was 46-year-old Bob Rosburg, another balding veteran, while 49-year-old Art Wall was tied with Nicklaus and three others at 69, just two strokes back.

Also at that figure were Bert Yancey, Don Bies and Australian David Graham.

Sam Snead, a 60-year-old relic of another era of golf, was one of a large group at 70.

Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer and defending title-holder George Archer had their problems in the cool, cloudy weather, however.

Trevino, the current British Open champion, could do no better than a 76. Palmer, 43 and struggling to regain the form that made him the athlete of the decade in the '60s, took a 75. The ganglong Archer was at 73.

Tigers set pace in AIC conference

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Ouachita Tigers are continuing to set the pace in the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference.

The Tigers rolled to their fifth straight victory without defeat Thursday night by trimming Harding 75-61 at Arkadelphia. In the only other AIC game Thursday night, Henderson drubbed College of the Ozarks 89-69 in a game at Clarksville.

Ouachita is leading the AIC, but Southern State, which plays tonight, also is unbeaten in league games with a 3-0 record.

The Tigers constructed a 40-30 halftime advantage against Harding and were never headed.

Jim Hamilton with 21 points and Maurice Scarbrough with 16 paced the Ouachita attack. Freddy Dixon had 20 and Tim Vick 14 for Harding.

The Reddies built a 15-point halftime lead then coasted on in.

Larry Bray led the Reddie attack with 33 points. Steve Reynolds added 16 points and Freddy Jones 11.

Gary Metcalf flipped in 26 points and hauled down 18 rebounds in a losing cause for Ozarks.

Henderson upped its 52-37 halftime lead to 22 points in the second half before Ozarks cut the deficit to 10 midway of the half. However, Ozarks could get no closer and Henderson won going away.

Henderson now has a 3-1 AIC record and Ozarks is 0-5.

The Old Pros Still in There

John Brodie, a Superb Moment

By MURRAY OLDERMAN

SAN FRANCISCO—(NEA)—Every now and then the drama of a sports achievement breaks through the illusory feel of games and play and stands pure as an emotional experience.

It happened the other day when John Riley Brodie, a 37-year-old father of four daughters and one son, spiralled a football for a net gain of two yards and a touchdown.

The touchdown, with 25 seconds to play in a game against the Minnesota Vikings, meant the San Francisco 49ers would participate in the National Football League championship playoffs.

For John Brodie, it meant the delicious thrill of a superb moment, which he celebrated by banging his helmet violently against the artificial surface of the playing field. It really wouldn't matter what happened after that.

The old guy (football-wise) had his personal fulfillment.

For eight weeks he had not been in a game, ever since an offensive tackle missed a block on the last play of a losing effort against the New York Giants in October and a blindside sack by Jack Gregory crumpled his ankle.

Injuries at Brodie's age heal slower, and by the time he was ready to play again a young quarterback, Steve Spurrier, had the 49ers moving forward.

The old guys don't take being benched gracefully. Brodie had been through it once before, on the other end, when he supplanted Y. A. Tittle more than a decade ago. Their pride tells them they can still do the job and if they've been with a team as long as Unitas and Brodie, there is a possessiveness in their attitude. Brodie, in his 16th year as a pro, has never played for any team but the 49ers.

The way Spurrier was going down the stretch part of the season, he couldn't afford to say anything, but privately he was bitter. The hell with the kid. It was his right to play.

And so they came to the final game of the season with a victory absolutely necessary. Late in the third quarter the 49ers were down 11 points and in trouble. Spurrier isn't the kind of quarterback who can play catch-up football. His long passes have a tendency to hang and get picked off.

The sluggish 49ers needed a quick charge, and Coach Dick Nolan turned to the old guy sitting out his ninth straight game and told him to warm up. The tempo of the game changed immediately.

Where Spurrier dinks passes to his halfbacks and uses a lot of play action to hold the defense in and try to work the middle of the field, Brodie takes it right to the other team's secondary. He fires those delicate square-outs and quick post patterns. But he also was intercepted twice and the 49ers, in the last desperate minutes were backed up to their six-inch line.

Brodie got them out with a magnificent pass which was rifled 55 yards in the air to

John Brodie

Gene Washington, and a few plays later he hit the same receiver for a touchdown. Then with a little more than a minute to play he moved them 66 yards for the winning score — and didn't even use up a full minute.

The artistry of an old pro was evident in every move, the same kind of artistry that Unitas, who's only two years older than Brodie, still maintains he has, that Earl Morrall, who is one year older than Brodie, has also shown in an amazing 10-game streak for the Miami Dolphins after he replaced injured Bob Griese.

It has been a mixed year for the old boys. Sonny Jurgensen, at 38, may have ended his career when his right leg collapsed as he retreated to pass. George Blanda, at 45, has finally faded into field goal kicking. Lenny Dawson, 37, had a weak season. Of course, Unitas was decked by a youth movement in Baltimore.

However, Billy Kilmer at 33 made still another comeback, taking over Jurgensen in Washington. Norm Snead, the same age, led the New York Giants to their first winning season in nine years. Charley Johnson, at 34, also was a surprising retread for the Denver Broncos, who kept losing, but more respectably.

He wouldn't concede that the sensational clutch score against the Vikings was his paramount thrill.

"First game I ever played here," he said, "I came in for Tittle when he got hurt. We were on the Baltimore 20 in the last minute and needed a touchdown to win. I threw to Billy Wilson but he got knocked down before the ball reached him. Hugh McElhenny came back to the huddle and told me he could beat Milt Davis in the corner. He goes out and shoves Davis a good eight yards and is all alone in the corner and I hit him for the touchdown. It gives us a tie for the conference championship with Detroit. THAT was a thrill."

That was also the faulty memory of an old pro. The records for that rookie season of 1957 show he appeared in four previous games and had even thrown a touchdown pass.

But why spoil a good ending?

Don Shula
NFL Coach of the Year

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Don Shula, who piloted the Miami Dolphins to professional football's first perfect regular season record in 30 years, was named National Football League Coach of the Year by The Associated Press today.

Shula edged Green Bay Coach Dan Devine by three votes in balloting by a nationwide panel of sportswriters and broadcasters. The Dolphins' boss received 28 votes to 25 for Devine. Chuck Noll of Pittsburgh was third with 12 votes, finishing ahead of Cleveland's Nick Skorich, who had six and George Allen of Washington, last year's winner, who had five.

Informed of the selection on his 43rd birthday, Shula, who is readying his Miami club for their second straight Super Bowl, was pleased. "It's a great honor," he said. "But what it really means is a lot of hard work by a lot of people. It's been a successful season but it won't mean a whole lot until we bring the world championship to Miami."

Shula, a pro coach for 10 seasons, has compiled a 38-9-1 record in three years at Miami.

The Dolphins swept all 14 regular season games this year and beat Cleveland and Pittsburgh in the playoffs to move into the Super Bowl showdown against Washington.

This will be Shula's third trip to the Super Bowl and he is still looking for his first victory. His Baltimore Colts lost to the New York Jets in 1969 and then the Cinderella Dolphins were ripped by Dallas last year.

Four of Shula's Miami players were named to The Associated Press All-Pro team Thursday. They were offensive guard Larry Little, one of only two All-Pro repeaters from last year, quarterback Earl Morrall, defensive end Bill Stanfill and safety Dick Anderson.

Morrall's running mates in the All-Pro backfield were Buffalo's O.J. Simpson, the NFL's rushing champ with 1,251 yards, and Larry Brown of Washington, voted the league's offensive player of the year.

Chosen for the wide receiver slots were Fred Biletnikoff of Oakland and San Francisco's Gene Washington. Joining Little on the offensive line were tackles Rayfield Wright of Dallas and Ron Yary of Minnesota, John Niland of Dallas at the other guard, San Francisco's Forest Blue at center and Ted Kwalick of the 49ers at tight end.

Other than the Dolphin representatives, the All-Pro defense includes end Claude Humphrey of Atlanta, tackles Joe Greene of Pittsburgh and Mike Reid of Cincinnati, outside linebackers Dave Wilcox of San Francisco and Chris Hanburger of Washington, middle linebacker Dick Butkus of Chicago, safety Bill Bradley of Philadelphia and cornerbacks Jimmy Johnson of San Francisco and Ken Ellis of Green Bay.

Raiders stomp Ottawa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ron Ward had a pretty good season Thursday night.

Ward scored five goals and assisted on another as the New York Raiders romped over Ottawa 9-4 Thursday night in the only World Hockey Association game played.

Those six scoring points matched Ward's total for 71 National Hockey League games with Vancouver last season. They also lifted his league-leading scoring total to 69, a fat nine points ahead of New England's Terry Caffery.

In the only NHL games played Thursday, St. Louis trimmed Boston 4-2 and Detroit took Buffalo 4-2.

Ward was a seldom-used defenseman at Vancouver but has blossomed into an All Star center for the Raiders.

He will be the starting center for the East in the WHA All Star game at Quebec Saturday. "It's my first All Star game and quite a thrill," said Ward. "Maybe Bud Poile will be watching."

Poile, in case you didn't know, is Ward's ex-boss at Vancouver.

The six goals gave Ward 33 for the season. And linemates Wayne Rivers and Brian Bradley also enjoyed big nights. Rivers had five assists and Bradley scored two goals and assisted on three others.

St. Louis used third-period goals by Gary Sabourin and Phil Roberto to beat Boston and snap the Bruins' eight-game winning streak.

Clemente's friends pour into church to pay final tribute

CAROLINA, P.R. (AP) — Friends remember Roberto Clemente as a man of quiet strength in both public and private life.

That's the way he was remembered Thursday by a priest at memorial services for the baseball superstar.

More than 70 friends of Clemente, including members of the Pittsburgh Pirate organization for which he played, attended the 45-minute service at the San Fernando Roman Catholic Church.

Speaking in the small, stone church not far from Clemente's Carolina home, the priest described the star outfielder as a man who showed the same strength in private life as he did on the field.

This strength eventually led to his untimely death, the priest added. Clemente was aboard a cargo plane carrying food to earthquake victims in Nicaragua when the craft went down in the Atlantic Ocean New Year's Eve not far from the Puerto Rican coast.

Four others were killed in the mercy mission, but only the body of the pilot has been found so far by searchers.

The mourners, including Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, had arrived at the nearby San Juan airport by chartered jet from Pittsburgh. They boarded buses and rode five miles to the church.

There, they were met by Clemente's widow, Vera, who had stopped a long watch at the beach area to hear the priest's eulogy.

After the mass ended, Clemente's friends left the church and poured into a plaza bulging with hundreds of people. The Pirate team then visited the Clemente home to pay their respects.

Along with Kuhn, the mourners included Pirate President Dan Galbreath, Manager Bill Virdon, former Manager Danny Murtaugh and many current and former players and some wives.

While the mass was held on this island, similar services were conducted in Pittsburgh. Some 1,000 people showed up at Trinity Cathedral Church there to hear Clemente eulogized as a man "who gave himself, even his life, for others."

Meanwhile, a movement continued to have the name of Three Rivers Stadium changed to Roberto Clemente Stadium. A spokesman for the Pittsburgh Stadium Authority said a meeting would be held to consider the possibility, but he stressed that no decision had been made.

Red Raiders shave Creighton by 2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Texas Tech served notice Thursday night that the Red Raiders will be a force to be reckoned with in the Southwest Conference basketball race beginning Jan. 13.

The Red Raiders shaved highly rated Creighton 59-57 on Richard Little's 20-foot jump shot with two seconds left for their seventh victory in 10 games.

Tech has now captured its last four intersectional contests.

In other games involving SWC teams, Centenary downed Arkansas 80-72, Baylor outlasted Lamar University 98-94, and Oklahoma shaved Texas 81-78.

Tech Coach Gerald Myers was enthusiastic over the Red Raider victory. Creighton had only been beaten by Draike and held a victory over tough Ohio State.

"It's about as well as we've played all year," Myers said. "I feel that anytime you win a game that way, you've got to have good effort and be fortunate."

Little paced all scorers with 18 points and hit a another 20-foot jump shot to tie the score with 1:59 left. Creighton lost the ball on a turnover and Tech stalled the last 89 seconds until Little launched his winning shot.

Baylor upped its overall record to 5-4 as Charley McKinney poured in 32 points, Lee Griffin got 25, and Jerry Ahart hit 22.

The Bears jumped to a 16-2 lead and had to beat back a late Cardinal charge. Trennis Jones led the visitors from the Southland Conference with 23 points.

Benafield resigns from commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — J. W. "Buddy" Benafield of England said Thursday he was resigning, effectively immediately, from the state Racing Commission.

Benafield, chairman of the commission, said he had completed the job he set out to do and said he thought he could "contribute more" in other activities.

Benafield, mayor of England, was named to a five-year term on the commission by Gov. Dale Bumpers last year.

Sports in brief

QUEBEC (AP) — Owners of World Hockey Association clubs meet Friday to consider several issues, one of which likely will be the establishment of a playoff structure to declare the champion in the new league.

The WHA reached the halfway point in its 468-game, first-year schedule earlier this week, but remained without a playoff formula for the two-division 12-team circuit.

General managers met Thursday but produced no firm decisions—only recommendations that were to go before the trustees.

Other subjects up for discussion by the WHA owners concern a draft of junior players and a professional draft and the dates of both.

TORRANCE, Calif. (AP) — Linebacker Don Parish of the Denver Broncos pleaded innocent Thursday to a charge of possessing cocaine and his trial was set for Feb. 21 by Superior Court Judge Bernard Lawler.

The 24-year-old Parish, a former Stanford star, was arrested last Nov. 13 at Los Angeles International Airport. Authorities said Parish had a small, concealed vial containing what authorities said was cocaine in his belongings.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals linebacker Al Beauchamp, charged with assault and battery, will be tried in Hamilton County Municipal Court on Feb. 2.

Beauchamp, who has pleaded innocent to the charge, won postponement of the trial Thursday.

Beauchamp, a veteran who started for Cincinnati this year, is accused of assaulting David Harris, 21, a tow truck driver who was preparing to haul Beauchamp's car from a department store loading dock area.

Olympic funding raises questions

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gov. Calvin L. Rampton says he's underwhelmed. Banker Gene Donovan says it's an honor, but he's concerned about funding and the environment. The ski areas are enthusiastic. And the Sierra Club says it'll never happen.

Thus ran local reaction to the decision by the U.S. Olympic Committee Thursday that Salt Lake City will host the 1976 Olympic Games, if the International Olympic Committee approves.

Even the staunchest local supporters of hosting the games insist it shouldn't cost local public funds, and the ecology of their well-loved ski canyons cannot be jeopardized. Similar issues led to the rejection by Denver voters of hosting the games; and the resulting bid by Mayor Jake Garn that Salt Lake city do so.

But all officials seemed in line with Garn's conditions: that no local or state government funds go into the project, and that no new facilities that could harm the ecology be built in the ski canyons southeast of the city.

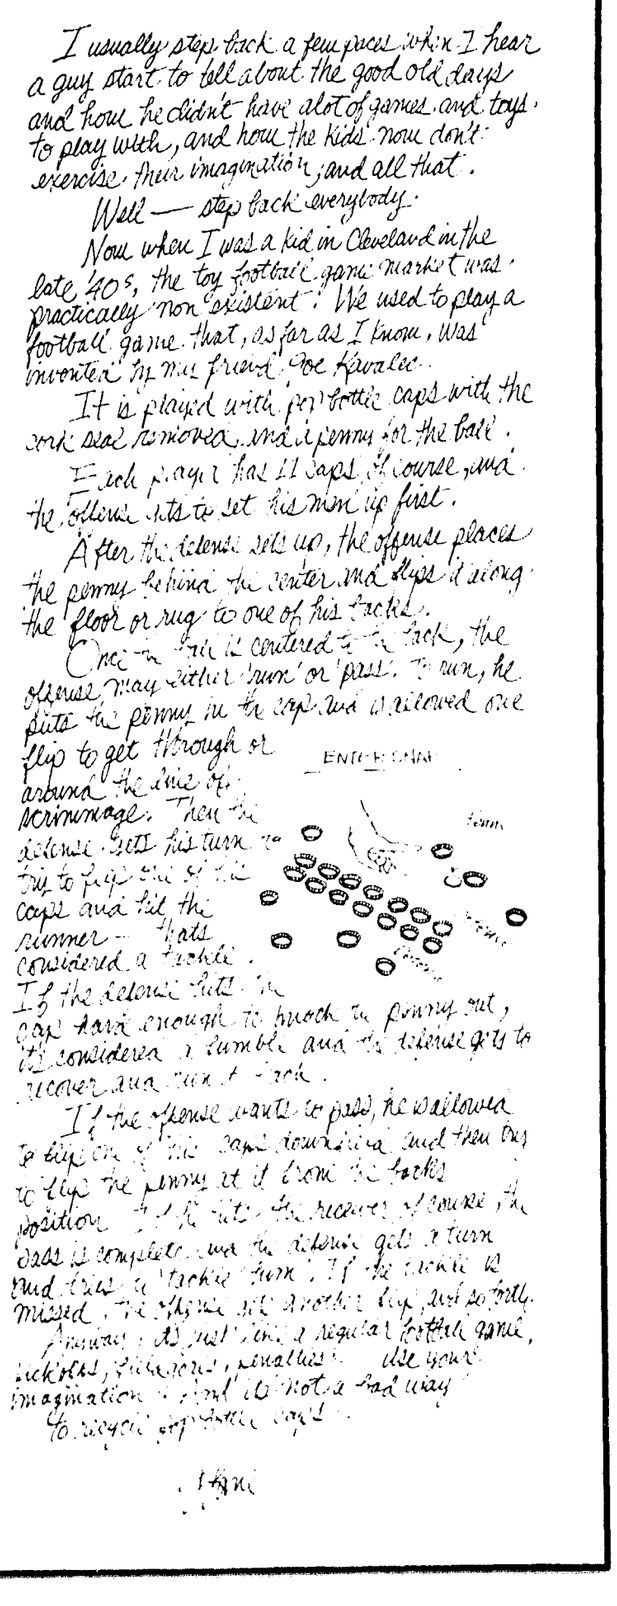

"I think it would be a national problem for obtaining the funds and keeping the Olympic Games in the United States for the Bicentennial celebration in 1976," Garn said. "I think it's a matter of national pride ..."

Lake Placid, N.Y., also sought the Games, the site of the 1932 Winter olympics. Two Lake Tahoe resort areas also lost out on their bids for the events.

Garn estimated the Olympics would cost $30 million—$15 million to construct facilities and an equal amount in operating expenses.

ART OVER GRAFFITI

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP) — High school art students are cooperating with the New Zealand Railways Department in an experiment to clean up graffiti covered walls.

Students at Porirua, near here, painted attractive pictures and designs over smutty pictures and poetry in a pedestrian subway.

Rail commuters have praised the school art designs.

The railways say it will examine the walls after two months to see if the graffiti artists have been discouraged.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation for every service and kindness rendered by our many friends and neighbors during the loss of our loved one.

BAD DAY AT THE TRACK

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — The event at the Riccarton Racetrack was called the Avon Steeplechase. It could well have been the Calamity Stakes.

Of the six horses entered, two completed the two-mile course without too much trouble, Boldway beating Doomsday by 25 lengths.

Timely finished third — after losing its rider and waiting at the final jump until two other horses were removed, Casca which broke down and Drum Call which fell and broke its neck.

The other horse called Duldul? It lost its jockey halfway through the race and made its own way back toward the saddling enclosure.

LEGAL NOTICE

Proposed Budget of Expenditures together with Tax Levy for Fiscal Year Beginning July 1, 1974 to and including June 30, 1975.

The Board of Directors of SPRING HILL School District No. 10 of HEMPSTEAD County, Arkansas, in compliance with the requirements of Act 403 of 1951 and of Amendment 40 to the Constitution of the State of Arkansas, have prepared, approved, and hereby make public the proposed budget of expenditures together with the tax rate as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Teachers' salaries | $82,778 |
| General Control | $3,200 |
| Instructional Cost (Operating Fund) | $2,500 |
| Transportation | $6,800 |
| Operation of Plant | $7,500 |
| Maintenance of Plant | $5,000 |
| Fixed Charges | $6,500 |
| Non Bonded Debt | $1,800 |
| Capital Outlay | $2,500 |
| Debt Service | $0 |

To provide for the foregoing proposed budget of expenditures the Board of Directors proposed a tax levy of 45 mills. This total tax levy includes 45 mills for maintenance and operation, 0 mills for Capital Outlay, and 0 mills for Debt Service which is a continuing levy for the retirement of present indebtedness.

GIVEN this 2nd day of January, 1973.

Business mirror

NEW YORK (AP) — In 1945 the total of consumer credit in the United States was $6 billion. Last year the total was close to $140 billion and rising month by month. There is no end in sight to credit's growth.

About $40 billion of that debt is for automobiles alone. Personal loans outstanding for a myriad of purposes amount to about $35 billion. Charge accounts, repair and modernization loans and the like make up the remainder.

The loans are made by banks, finance companies, credit unions and others. They are made to people in all economic categories from millionaires to welfare recipients, and for reasons as various as the imagination can produce.

In addition, households are in debt for tens of billions more. Savings and loan associations alone hold $175 billion in home mortgages, and life insurance companies add another $75 billion to that total.

So pervasive is credit in our society that there is almost no social issue unaffected in some way. It is involved in housing, health, economic mobility, education, equal rights and the like.

So necessary is it to life today that the argument seems to be tilting in favor of those who claim credit is a right rather than a privilege. And responding to this interpretation, some lenders offer loans to those on welfare.

Because credit has become so entwined in our aspirations and everyday life, it is a source of continual conflict.

For the same reason it is the subject of almost constant study. A presidential advisory panel called the National Business Council for Consumer Affairs reported recently that the credit system must be made more responsive.

And this week a congressional study group, the National Commission on Consumer Finance, made similar recommendations, chiefly that credit be made more readily available and that crude collection practices be curbed.

Among some considerations that suggest why the nation must always study this phenomenon if it is to be responsive to changes in society.

Helen Bottel

Helen Help Us!

Her Beach Attire Unsuitable

DEAR HELEN:

If men and women are now equal, then why can't I wear a topless swim suit on a public beach as men do? By summer the Equal Rights Amendment will surely be law, and then it will be my constitutional right to go as bare as males. But what do you bet I get arrested as I did last year? —BARE BEACH BUNNY

DEAR BBB:

That depends on where you swim: South Carolina? Probably. Big Sur, California? Probably not.

(My husband adds, "So far, the Constitution only gives you the right to BARE arms—it isn't clear about the rest of the anatomy.") —H.

DEAR HELEN:

I may be the youngest grandmother in the country, but I'm not proud of it. Not ashamed any more, either.

I had my first baby when I was not quite 13. The father was 17 and he ran away. Karen was raised by my mother. When I got married, at 19, to a wonderful guy, we let Karen decide who she wanted to live with and she chose my parents. She knows I'm her mother, but we're more like close sisters.

Well, history repeats itself. Karen isn't wild, but she thought she was madly in love. She ran away, both she and the boy lied about their ages, and they got married when she was 13, he 15. The folks had the marriage annulled, but my grandson was born before Karen was 14, which makes me a grandmother at age 25.

Like me, Karen got over her "love." She wants to finish school—and my husband and I want the baby, as we haven't been able to have one of our own.

But I want him as our son, not my grandson (who could be taken away from us). Karen says she'd rather have it this way too, but she might change her mind later on, and we couldn't bear giving him up.

Can I legally adopt my own grandson? —25-YEAR-OLD GRANDMOTHER

DEAR GRANDMOTHER:

Your husband can legally adopt your grandson as his son, which would insure his remaining with you. Since you won't want to close the real mother (your sister-daughter) out of your lives, I think there will be fewer problems if the boy understands his true status. Don't you? —H.

DEAR HELEN:

The issue is common courtesy!

I'm a housewife and very often in supermarkets. I wonder why people (usually the middle-aged who should know better) so often leave their "consideration for others" at home, when they go shopping.

When your checker closes, for example, why do so many women push ahead of you to an open stand, even if they were behind you in the first line?

And how about leaving empty carts behind your parked car, or in the middle of a parking space so you have to either get out and move them or drive farther on?

I'm not too fond of people who block the aisles with their carts, and glower when you ask to get through.

Between the lines of this letter is a feeling of nostalgia for the days when drivers "yielded" at "yield" signs, stopped to let a waiting motorist on to the highway...helped a young child who was lost. There's a TV commercial that capitalizes on the fact that no one would offer help if you had a flat tire ("So buy our tires and be safe.") Have we become a nation of non-carers? —J.D.

DEAR J.:

Not really. But the non-carers seem abundantly present to us—because they make us mad. Next time you're at the supermarket, count the people who wait their turn, stay out of your way, etc. You might be surprised. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences.

POWER that sustains
may be found thru regular church attendance

Judge Not

St. Matthew warned us against judging others. We may look contemptuously at our neighbor, our competitor, but we must not judge him. We may even point a finger, but God strongly warned against it. "Judge not, that ye be not judged. For with what judgment ye judge, ye shall be judged: and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you again" (Matthew 7:1-2). God cautioned us well. It could not have been spoken more plainly. He urged us to obey His word. He even called accusers, hypocrites, and demanded that they rid themselves of all judgment acts.

God tempers justice with mercy, but
He will not hold him guiltless who commits a judgment sin.

Too often transgressors resent the kindly judge who sits in court to serve his country and his God. But the bar of justice is broad and God's mercy is not strained. His judgment, not ours, must prevail. For it is written that we must pay for our error. We must face our record in court. But those who attend church more, go to court less.

Most Diabetes Can Be Controlled

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—Why can't diabetes be cured? I am 62 and they just found out I have it. It did not show in the urine originally. I kept a constant check on my kidneys, and over a year ago diabetes was even ruled out. Then all at once my urine showed 4+ and I was given a tolerance test and the blood sugar was 595. I was placed in a hospital, and they put me on insulin and an 800-calorie diet to reduce.

The insulin injection made my legs sore, and it keeps getting worse. From the treatment I am getting, my blood is staying down around 110 or close to that. I also have diverticulosis and my diet calls for lots of vegetables. I've had some discomfort in the bowels and back, and yet I have to eat to balance the calorie intake with my medicine, as I understand it. We know of no one in our family who had diabetes, or at least we never heard of it. Is it true one cannot undergo surgery?

Dear Reader—Most cases of diabetes cannot be cured, but they can be controlled. Although there are several complex mechanisms which can cause the blood sugar to be markedly elevated, the common one associated with diabetes is related to inadequate production or utilization of insulin, a hormone from the pancreas. Insulin or similar medicines are given to enable the body to utilize the blood sugar, glucose. Without normal insulin action the inability to use blood glucose causes the sugar to accumulate in the blood to very high levels. Once the level exceeds about 170, sugar spills out in the urine, since the kidney's filtering mechanism is set to eliminate accumulations of sugar above this level. If you lose too much sugar in the urine, you begin to lose weight, because the calories in the food converted to blood glucose are lost through the kidneys. The kidneys need water to wash the sugar out in the urine, causing the person to pass lots of urine frequently. To replace the water that's lost, one must drink lots of water. Therefore, the symptoms of diabetes are thirst, frequent urination, and weight loss with a large appetite. The individual eats a lot of food but still loses weight because the food energy is lost in the urine. I am surprised you hadn't already lost some weight with the high blood sugar level that you report in your letter.

The diet is very important in the treatment of diabetes, and you're correct in saying that it must be balanced against the medicines you're taking. In individuals with milder forms of diabetes than you apparently have, weight reduction alone by proper diet ofttimes lowers the blood sugar to acceptable levels.

Diabetes does seem to have a tendency to be inherited, although many individuals do have it without any known previous family history. The fact that there is no one in your family that you know of who had diabetes is no reason that you couldn't have it, as your case has demonstrated.

There is no reason to perform surgery in real diabetes. If the elevated blood sugar is associated with the inflammation of the pancreas where insulin is formed in association with gall bladder disease or some other problem, sometimes surgery is indicated. These are not true cases of persistent diabetes. Surgery for other proper reasons, such as appendicitis, can be and is done in diabetics.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

South wasn't happy with his bidding. He had bid and rebid a four-card suit headed by the jack. He was less happy when he saw that the dummy held just three trumps for him.

A lot of players would have given up in disgust but South proceeded to make his contract with an overtrick. Actually it wasn't too hard. The cards just had to help him.

He won the second diamond in dummy and played out the three top clubs. Everyone followed and business was looking up.

Now he led a diamond from dummy. East could do nothing better than to discard a heart and South made a small trump.

Now he led a low heart; finessed dummy's queen; cashed the ace and led a fourth diamond. Again the best East could do was to discard a heart and South made his eighth trick with a small trump.

Now he was sure of his contract since dummy still held all its trumps, but South did even better.

He led his jack of hearts. West had to ruff; otherwise the jack would have held the trick and now West was endplayed and had to give South the last three tricks.

There is an interesting sidelight. The game was team-of-four. At the other table North played and made three no-trump. Can you work out his line of play?

QUARTER OF BRITISH CAR SALES IMPORTED

LONDON (AP) — Imported cars represented 24 per cent of total sales in Britain in October 1972, according to latest official statistics.

Of a total of 135,456 car sales in the month, 32,580 were imported compared with 112,151 sales and 19,512 imported in the same month last year when the percentage was 17.4.

In the first 10 months of 1972, 1,412,298 cars were sold including 331,518 imported models — 23.47 per cent. Comparative 1971 levels were: 1,078,649/total 208,056 imported — 19.29 per cent.

Most popular imported car was the French Renault range with 51,586 sales or 3.65 per cent of the market.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The ancient Athenian democratic assembly had a practice of balloting annually to decide whether any official should be ostracized. A vote of ostracism was cast when an official's personal ambition or power was considered adverse enough to be injurious to the state, The World Almanac notes. Ostracism's penalty was banishment from Athens for up to 10 years.
